Understanding Fashion Series

ISSN 1753-3406

Understanding Fashion is a series of short, accessible, authored books designed to provide students with a map of the fashion field. The books are aimed at beginning undergraduate students and they are designed to cover an entire module. Accessibly written, each book will include boxed case studies, bullet point chapter summaries, guides to further reading, and questions for classroom discussion. Individual titles can be used as a key text or to support a general introductory survey. They will be of interest to students studying fashion from either an applied or cultural perspective.

Titles in the series will include:

Fashion Design

Elizabeth Bye

Fashion and the Consumer

Jennifer Yurchisin and Kim K.P. Johnson

Fashion and Identity

Alison Goodrum

Understanding Fashion and Textiles

Jess Power
