The Textile Research Journal is the leading peer reviewed Journal for textile research. It is devoted to the dissemination of fundamental, theoretical and applied scientific knowledge in materials, chemistry, manufacture and system sciences related to fibers, fibrous assemblies and textiles. The Journal serves authors and subscribers worldwide, and it is selective in accepting contributions on the basis of merit, novelty and originality.

Fibers, fibrous assemblies, textiles, and other fiber-based materials such as nonwovens are of immense importance in today's global economy. In addition to their use in well-established consumer and industrial markets, they have widespread use in novel, non-traditional applications, such as in technical textiles, reinforced composites, geotextiles, personal care products, filtration, transportation, health care and biomaterials, smart, intelligent, electronic, and nano applications.

Since its founding in 1930, The Textile Research Journal has served as the premier forum for the presentation of scientific results that introduce new concepts, innovative technologies, and improved understanding of Sage Publishing took over the Textile Research Journal from the United States Institute for Textile Research, Inc. (Textile Research Institute) in 2005. Soon after, in March 2007, Dr. Dong Zhang took over as the Editor-in-Chief of the journal and efficiently directed it till December 2025. His vision, dedication and efforts in converting the journal as a top-rated publication in the textile field is commendable. Previously, the journal was publishing 12 issues per year, and during the tenure of Dr. Zhang it got expanded to 18 issues in 2009, and subsequently to 20 issues in 2010. From 2018 onwards, there are two issues every month (24 issues per year). Among the milestones achieved during his leadership, the most remarkable one is the contribution to the Impact Factor of the journal. Before 2007, its Impact Factor was around 0.3, it increased to more than 1.0 in 2008, and in 2019 it was above 2.0. Its 2024 impact factor is 1.9 and the 5-year impact factor is 2.1, ranking it 12th out of 31 journals in the category "Materials Science, Textiles".

Dr. Zhang received his Ph.D. in Material Engineering and Science from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, USA in 1995. Further, he continued there as a Research Professor till 2005. Since then, he is the Principal of Textile Research Associates, USA, a research and consulting firm specialising in textiles, advanced nonwovens, filtration technologies and global market analysis. He is a globally recognized expert in textiles, nonwovens, material science and sustainable technologies. Apart from Textile Research Journal, he was the Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Industrial Textiles (JIT). Acknowledging his eminent services to the Textile Research Journal, Sage publications is pleased to honour him as its Emeritus Editor.

Sage Publishing is excited to welcome Prof. Roshan Paul as the new Editor-in-Chief. He received his Ph.D. (Tech.) in Textile Processing Technology from the Institute of Chemical Technology, Mumbai, India, in 2001. Prof. Paul is a Full Professor by Invitation (Professor Catedrático Convidado) in the University of Beira Interior, Portugal. He is also associated with the Institut für Textiltechnik of RWTH Aachen University, Germany as the Platform Leader of Smart Finishing Group. He has previously worked in the Spanish National Research Council (CSIC), Spain; Clariant, India; LEITAT Technological Center, Spain and Hohenstein Institute, Germany. He also served as the Director of Indo-German Science & Technology Centre (IGSTC).

He is a Chartered Textile Technologist (CText FTI), a Chartered Colourist (CCol FSDC), a Chartered Engineer (CEng FIE), a Fellow of the Textile Association of India (FTA), and a Senior Life Member of AATCC. Based on the global influence of his research on the progress of Sustainable Textile Technologies, he was included multiple times, in the list of the World's Top 2 Percent of scientists, derived from Scopus database/Stanford data. Sage Publishing is fully convinced that Prof. Paul would take Textile Research Journal to further heights.
