ABOUT THE EDITORS AND AUTHORS

Rashed A. Alzahmi is a Ph.D. candidate in workforce education and development with an emphasis on human resource development and organization development at the Pennsylvania State University. He holds master's and bachelor's degrees in workforce education and development from The Pennsylvania State University and an AAS in accounting from Pennsylvania College of Technology. Alzahmi was head of the Scholarship Department in Abu Dhabi National Oil Company (ADNOC) in the United Arab Emirates from 2004 to 2010, where he was responsible for training and recruiting talented individuals to the ADNOC and its group companies through educational programs. He also served as a committee member in the Glenelg School of Abu Dhabi. His research interests revolve around strategic planning for human resource development, workforce planning, and organization development.

Catherine Z. Baumgardner is president of Catherine Baumgardner & Associates, Inc., a full-service consulting practice focused on the organization development of customer-focused cultures in the health professions. Catherine has nearly twenty-five years of experience at senior levels of healthcare management and consulting and has worked with hospitals and physician practices across the United States and Canada. She is a fellow in the American College of Healthcare Executives, and received her bachelor of science in business administration and her master's degree in health administration from The Ohio State University. She is a Ph.D. candidate in workforce education and development at The Pennsylvania State University, with an emphasis on organization development and human resources.
